

TERRAZZO

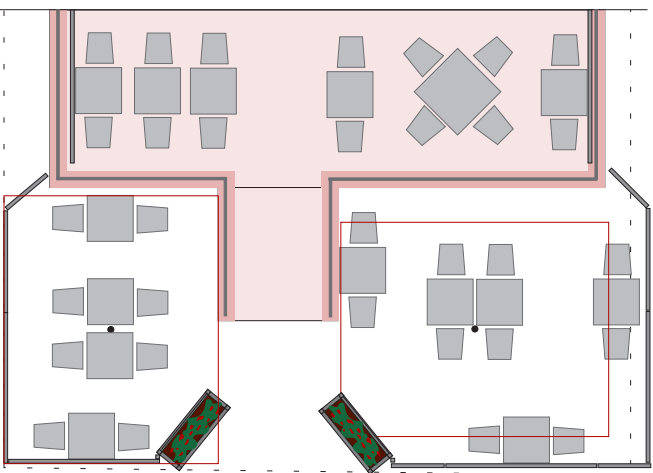

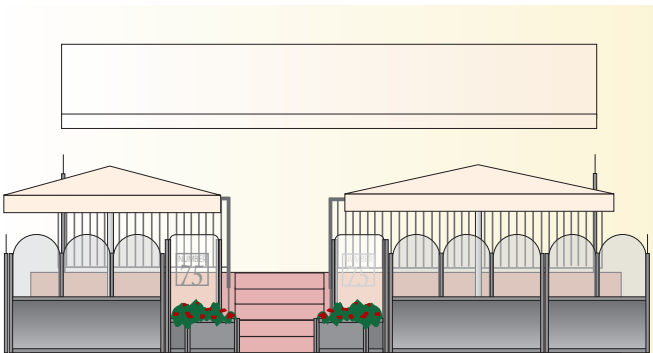

from design to completion

Case Study
Number 75

This attractive scheme includes awnings, parasols, Terrazzo screening and SunSwitch heating. For planning reasons, the client wanted the screening to be removeable. A feature was made of the entrance by including two angled planters. These not only create an attractive and welcoming entrance to the restaurant, but they greatly increase rigidity and stability. A menu board was fitted at the entrance. Menu boards are a great way to encourage people to stop, size up what is available, and make a decision to dine without any pressure. The menu boards are at eye level. Not only do they cost less than A boards, but they don't take up pavement space or blow over.
